REPAYMENT OPTIONS WHILE STILL AT SCHOOL

Choose one (✓) of the three

✓	Options	Options explained
✓	Begin full payments right away	This option only applies if all the funds are being requested to be paid out in one (1) lump sum. After this, the student will need to show evidence of how the payments on the loan will be repaid while he/she is at school (e.g. by a relative or one of the Sureties via salary deduction).
	Pay only interest while studying	During the time of study, a grace period can be granted on the repayment of principal (only). However, the student must show evidence of how the interest payments on the loan will be met while he/she is at school. [At the end of the course, the student must begin repaying the principal portion of the loan no later than three months following such completion].
	Request that the interest be capitalized	This is a special concession only granted to a few students. With this option, a grace period is granted on the repayment of both the principal and the interest until after the student completes his or her studies. Again, at the end of the course, the student must begin repaying the principal portion of the loan no later than three months.
